Economic Highlights

"Where does 'small business' end and 'big business' begin?" asks an article in The Exchange, a monthly magazine which is published by the New York Stock Exchange.

That's a good question. We are constantly hearing talk about big business, and much of it is derogatory. Yet it is impossible to say precisely how big a business must be before it falls into the classification. More important still, a good many people seem to think that big business is a thing apart from other and smaller business, and that, to a large extent at least, the interests and aims of the two are strongly opposed.

The magazine cites a concern which few people outside its area know of-the K. William Beach Manufacturing Company of Springfield, Ohio. It is a manufacturer of engine gaskets and has but 35 employes. That certainly makes it a small business in the ordinary view. Yet it buys materials and services from 25 supplier companies, some of which are larger and some smaller than itself, and all of which are partially dependent upon it for their existence and well-being. And it sells its gaskets to Delco Products, which is a large employer.

Delco, in turn, is a division of one of the biggest businesses on earth-General Motors. GM employs more than 500,000 workers and sells its products to thousands of independent distributors, some of which employ only one to 10 or so people. They make their living by selling those products to the tens of millions of consumers who want them.

That brings up the article's big point. It says: "If at one end of the line the Springfield plant stops turning out gaskets, or if at the other end consumers stop buying cars, then all business-'big,' 'small' or 'in-between'-inevitably feels the chain reaction. which transforms raw materials into finished prohealthy.

"Yet the term 'big business' continues in popuis really a finely-balanced machine of many parts and stew 2 months ago, let alone 2 years. and sizes-all interlocking and interdependent."

The Exchange uses GM as an example of that interdependence. GM grosses some $10,000,000,000 a year in sales. Of that huge sum, the employes get $2,750,000,000 and spend it for groceries and hair cuts and rent and everything else they need. Taxes account for $1,250,000,000, and a large part of that goes to thousands of small firms which have government contracts. Then $5,250,000,000 goes to 21,000 independent businesses, many small, which supply of other places. So the chain goes, on and on. The story would be the same in principle for any of the other corporations whose securities are listed on stock exchanges, and which are dependent on thousands of small firms and millions of people for parts, services, and sales. And the stocks which represent ownership of those corporations, incidentally, are the property of legions of people, many of very moderate means. To quote The Exchange magazine once more, Who can tell how many corner grocers are involved when a freight load of gaskets leaves Springfield, Ohio, bound for Detroit?"

KINGSLEY, IOWA, NEWS-TIMES: "The prices we pay for the food we eat are greatly affected by taxes. About $1 out of every $5 that a housewife spends on food goes for taxes of one kind or another. Americans today are paying out far more for taxes than for food, although as recently as 1939 the reverse was true. In 1954, the tax bill amounted to about $85 billion, compared to $64 billion for food; in 1939 taxes took only $121/2 billion, and $16 bilion went for food."

PORTLAND, IND., GRAPHIC: "The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee recently heard William G. Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Association, testify in Washington, D. We agree that facing the facts is exactly what we need here in the county but we'd like to see the county face and handle its own problems without looking for federal aid."

How Public Service Company keeps your electric bill down

Today, you're using more electricity but, like most Northern Illinois families, you're getting almost twice as much of it for your money as you did 25 years ago.

One of the ways Public Service Company keeps your electric bill down is through improved equipment like our newest 160,000 kilowatt generators. These giants squeeze three times the electrical "juice" from every ton of coal as was possible years ago.

So, though cost of living has doubled, electricity, your taken-for-granted life line to better living, costs you less per kilowatt hour than it did back in 1930.

The Case of the Unlabelled Bottle

If you were to come across a handsomely colored and artistically shaped bottle that had no label, we doubt very much whether you would risk sampling its contents.

Yet, so many men come across suits and coats that are attractive to the eye and not only do they try them on-but they actually purchase them without really knowing a thing about them.

Fortunately, there is a labelling act which insists that the properties of the fabric be stated somewhere on the garment. But there is no law that demands an explanation of the inner construction.

We do not handle unlabelled bottles. When we show you a "BOTANY" "500"*, Tailored by DAROFF, you not only know that you are getting the very finest fabrics loomed today. But the exclusive "Botany" "500" X-RAY TAG tells you the whole inside story-revealing the hidden materials in each garment that give these garments their superior value and finer wearing qualities.

300 Communities Celebrated First Brotherhood Day

WASHINGTON - In the year 1934, some 300 communities in the United States shook off the doldrums of the then current depression long enough to observe something called Brotherhood Day, The observance caused only a ripple of response in the participating communities and it received virtually no national recognition. But to a group of men and women banded together in an organization known as the National Conference of Christians and Jews, that day in April 1934 was exciting and inspirational. And in Denver, Colorado, a Catholic priest, Monsignor Hugh McMenamin was seeing the fulfillment of an idea he had almost casually proposed to the National Conference, two years previously.

Those who worked to promote that first Brotherhood Day saw it become a full week's observance in 1940, and four years later, more than 2,000 communities, among which, for the first time every state was included, celebrated Brotherhood Week. Today the annual observance has taken on all the character of an American Institution with more than 10,000 communities participating. Since 1940, the Brotherhood Week dates have always been the full week that includes Washington's Birthday; this year, February 20-27.

Although Brotherhood Week is now a definite part of the American scene, it is a paradox that comparatively little is known about its sponsor, the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The National Conference of Christians and Jews with a professional staff of experts in the field of human relations is a nonprofit organization, well in the background performing its task of fighting prejudice and bigotry through a vast network of community organizations, religious groups, educational institutions, labor-management groups, and all forms of mass-media of communi-

Long Shot Pays Bold Bandit Well

NEW ORLEANS - A long shot paid off to the tune of $14,500 for a bandit who robbed a branch bank and then fled into the crowd at nearby Fair Grounds Race Track, where he apparently slipped away despite an intense man hunt among 5,000 racing fans.

Officers said the robber must have escaped from the track before they could cordon it off. A search of the grounds and check of all persons leaving the track proved fruitless.

The holdup man, described as about 30, robbed the Gentilly branch of Hibernia National Bank. As the alarm sounded, a visitor from Rhode Island, Mrs. Gerda Sheridan, saw the bandit hop into a car with two money bags "and a lot of people after him."

Mrs. Sheridan followed in her own car. She said that a hay wagon blocked the bandit's car near the race track. He ran the car into a ditch and jumped out and headed onto the track.

Mrs. Sheridan ran to the gate and told an attendant there had been a holdup and then ran to a nearby bar to call police.

Slick Seats—Not Icy Streets Get Blame

LOUISVILLE, Ky .- Traffic offcers are used to having accident victims blame it all on slick streets, but a 16-year-old driver came up with a new excuse hereslick seats.

That was his excuse for crashing into a telephone pole.

"I wasn't going too fast," the youth told Patrolman Victor Geiger, "And the slick street didn't bother me. I've got new seat covers, and when I turned the curve I slid on them-all the way out of the driver's seat."

The impact broke the telephone pole in half and disrupted phone service on six lines for about an

Baldness Remedies Are Not True Cures Says AMA Expert

CHICAGO-The first known written medical record contained a remedy for baldness, including fat from the lion, hippopotamus, crocodile, goose, serpent, and ibex. It had one thing in common with modern "cures."

It also failed to cure baldness. One of the reasons baldness "cures" have continued to appear for thousands of years is that baldness is a "mysterious condition about which people can be easily fooled," according to Veronica L. Conley, assistant secretary of the American Medical Association on

Another reason is that baldness is the type of problem that breeds quackery. The "psuedoscientific arguments supporting most baldness cures" are frequently "so convincing that their unsound basis can be detected only by trained scientists."

For instance, "before and aft-er" pictures of bald men whose hair grew again after using a "restorer" are among the most "potent advertising weapons."

The trouble is that in many types of baldness, hair will return regardless of treatment or lack of it. This type of baldness and "spontaneous regrowth" often follows infectious diseases accompanied by fever, including pneumonia, typhoid, and influenza. Serious hair loss sometimes follows childbirth or surgery. In all these conditions, normal hair growth returns without help.

Once ordinary baldness gets under way, "it is progressive and permanent and there is no known way of preventing or retarding its progress," Mrs. Conley said. The tendency toward baldness is hereditary but will appear only where there is a normal amount of male

Hurricane Topped 1954 Catastrophes

NEW YORK-Catastrophes-accidents in which five or more persons are killed-were responsible last year for the loss of more than 1,200 lives in the United States, one third less than the year before and the smallest number in five years, say insurance

Hurricanes "Carol" and "Hazel" catastrophes of the year. "Carol" struck Long Island, New York and New England on August 31, killing 68 persons. "Hazel" cut through the Atlantic Coast and New England states on October 15, causing about 100 fatalities-the worst single disaster of the year.

Not since 1938 have such storms claimed so many victims in a single year, the statisticians note, although tornadoes, which killed about 475 persons in 1953, took comparatively few lives in 1954.

The two other major disasters of 1954 were the August 28 crash of a military plane at Rapid City, with a death list of 26, and the international scheduled passenger plane crash at Idlewild Airport, New York, December 18, which also killed 26 persons.

Man Who Waged 'War' Dies by Own Hand

VENICE, Italy-An Italian customs guard, who had declared a "one-man" war against Italy, shot himself through the heart while police searched for him, authorities said.

Police said Mechele Cannarozzo, 49, killed two women and injured 44 other persons. He had been the object of an intensive police search since he tossed four hand grenades into a crowded theater audience in the Adriatic port city of Ancona.

Police said they found a diary in which Cannarozzo said the attack was "vengeance" on mankind for his failure to get a lowrent apartment in a Ancona housing project.

Monkey in Panty Raid Runs Afoul Policeman

SOUTHEND, England-Jokko, the monkey, had a riotous night. Jokko found a bottle of Benedictine while prowling around the house in the absence of his owner. Several drinks later, the monkey rummaged through a drawer and turned up a pair of pink nylon panties. He donned these and staggered out of the house. Jokko soon attracted a large audience of homebound children, who laughed merrily. Their shouting attracted a policeman who took Jokko, now in a bad humor, to the Station House.

Police locked the monkey in a cell until his owner came to take him home.

MORE PEOPLE CARS IN 1954 than any other make!

Ford passenger-car sales to customers outnumbered those of any other make by thousands*

Ford is the leader in ride

Ford was first in its field to introduce Ball-Joint Front Suspension-the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years. And, for '55, it's even better. Springs are set at an angle to smooth out even the tiniest bumps. It's the new Ford Angle-Poised Ride.

FORD IS THE LEADER IN ALL THE FEATURES THAT MAKE YOUR CAR WORTH MORE WHEN YOU BUY IT · WORTH MORE WHEN YOU SELL IT

Ford is the leader in styling

Motorists know that Ford has set the style trend in the industry for years. And now, with styling inspired by the fabulous Thunderbird, Ford is farther out front than ever!

Ford is the leader in V-8 power

Ford was first in its field (by 23 years) to provide the advantages of V-8 power. Since that time, Ford has built over 14,000,000 V-8 engines-more than all other makers combined! For 1955, Ford offers two new and mighty V-8's, as well as a most modern Six-all with the split-second response of Trigger-Torque power!

Average Lifetime Earnings for U. S. Man Is $150,000

American man, starting out to earn his living, has a prospective lifetime income in excess of

This estimate is based on current conditions of employment, income and survival rates and their projection into the future, according to figures derived from data recently compiled by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

Comparable figures derived from the 1950 census of Population indicate the prospective lifetime income of the average man figured out at $133,000 in 1949, projected on the basis of employment and other conditions as they existed at that time.

Inherent in the Bureau of the Census study from which prospective lifetime incomes are derived, is the importance of education. A high school diploma will raise the prospective lifetime income of a man to the neighborhood of $200,000 on the average, on the basis of existing conditions today. The college graduate, on the other hand, because of the positions open to him and the chances for advancement, has the prospect of earning about $100,000 more on the average during his life span than the man whose schooling ended with high school. Of course, earning power varies from one person to another, depending on such factors as initiative and job performance as well as educational background. The records are studded with cases of men who developed a large income and even worked their way to the top despite educational and other handicaps. But the figures also indicate that as far as the average man is concerned educa-

As any automotive engineer will tell you, the goal in automatic transmissions has long been a design that would give top acceleration and top gas mileage-and still be absolutely smooth. Well, it's easy to step up acceleration, or gas mileage-but tough to

They took a leaf from the airplane's variable pitch propeller-which switches the pitch of its blades one way for quick take-off-and another way for better gas mileage aloft.

They brought the same principle to Dynaflow Drive*- to the twenty

(maybe you'd better try Variable Pitch Dynaflow!!)

In cruising and in all normal driving, the blades are angled for fuel economy-and you get a lot more miles from a tankful of gas.

But when you have to move instantly-when you need quick getaway, or a sudden burst of safetysurge power to get out of a tight spot on the highway-you just press down that gas pedal, and you're off in a split second.

There's even more to Chevrolet styling than meets the eye!

This is beauty with a bonus . . . for Chevrolet styling is designed to add safety and comfort while you drive, and to return greater value when you trade.

Truly modern lines are shaped by usefulness. You can see what we mean in the deep crystal curve of Chevrolet's Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a dramatic style note, certainly, but one that stems from the need for wider, safer vision. Or take high-set taillights-they add to the impressive length of line . . . but they are up there where they can be seen for safety's sake, and as convenient guides in parking. So, too, with the jutting peaks over the headlights.

The smart louvers across the hood aren't just decoration . . . they mark the intake for the High-Level ventilation system for cleaner, fresher air. And the whole shape of the body-its lowness, the dipped belt line-is merely a reflection of a lowered center of gravity.

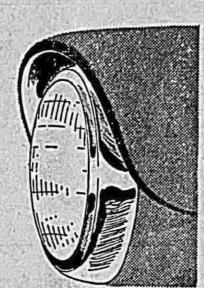

. This is truly functional styling that serves you better every mile, and preserves its value against the distant day when you trade. This is Body by Fisher-another Chevrolet exclusive in the low-price field. Come in and let us demonstrate that this new Chevrolet is just as exciting to drive as to look at!

Chances of Being Hit by Meteorite Almost Negligible

WASHINGTON - The meteorite that shot through the roof of an Alabama home and reportedly struck a housewife gave her a distinction held by no other human

Most meteorites fall unseen, and the chunky imports from outer space rarely strike man-made objects. Just why, nobody knows, but there is no previous authenticated record of a meteorite hitting and injuring a person.

Historians generally discredit several stories of death inflicted by "stones from heaven," mostly in the 16th and 17th centuries. One unverlified report says more than a thousand stones fell near Milan, Italy, in 1511, killing birds, sheep and a Franciscan friar.

The risk of being hit by a meteorite appears to be negligible. But these projectiles of iron and stone have been scaring people out of their wits since the dawn of the human mind. Ancient man had a tendency to preserve meteorites out of fear or reverence. The sacred stone built into the Kaaba at Mecca supposedly came from the sky.

The earliest authentic meteorite, of which portions are still preserved, fell at Ensisheim, Germany, on November 16, 1492, a little more than a month after Columbus discovered America.

The first verified fall of a meteorite in the United States was witnessed by two Yale professors at Weston, Connecticut, in 1807.

Oddly enough, scientists paid little attention to meteorites for many years. Scientific collection of meteorites did not begin in earnest until after 1803 when a large shower at Laigle, France, convinced men of learning that the bodies were extra-terrestrial. Even now, meteorics is a new science.

Many Americans Neglect Breakfast

CHICAGO - The old saying "early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy . . . " can only be true in the long run if you get up early enough to eat a good breakfast.

A recent two-year governmental survey of 600 men working in industrial plants revealed that many are not getting their daily three square meals. Other research has shown this is also true of teenage girls, working women, and women worried about their weight.

And the most neglected meal is

Figures from the study of 600 industrial workers indicated that a fourth of the men were low in calcium; a fourth were low in vitamin C; about 44 per cent were overweight.

Conclusions included: the men with shortages drank too little milk and ate too few citrus fruits, tomatoes, and green leafy vegetables; diet records showed overweight men were slighting breakfast and then easing mid-morning hunger pains with high calorie snacks sold at the plant.

Uncle Sam Is Hiding Plenty of Currency

PHILADELPHIA-Uncle Sam is hiding his money away.

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson says the Government has cached an emergency stockpile of currency for use if the nation's mints are destroyed in a sneak A-bomb and H-bomb

Peterson made the report in an address to the Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia on the many things that must be done if the country is to survive in this "age of peril." He said Civil Defense advised the Treasury that its minting and currency printing plants without exception "were located in the heart of critical target areas."

"An atomic attack would have us using wampum again if (these) plants were hit," he said. "Somewhat hastily, the money men ran up a stockpile of currency for emergency purposes and tucked it away where they could get their hands on it if needed."

Woman Stays in Coma Record 1,098 Days

STOCKTON, Calif. - Doctors said recently there was no possible cure for Mrs. Abbie Lelah Howland, 34, in a coma for a record 1,098 days as a result of an automobile accident.

Mrs. Howland had remained in a state of suspended animation since December 4, 1951, when the accident caused permanent damage to her brain, the doctors said. Dr. Louis Barber, San Joaquin Hospital administrator, said the three-year coma is believed the longest on record.

True Love Never LONDON - A London divorcecourt judge has ruled that a husband was wrong in leaving home just because his wife told him she loved another man. Judge A. Davies granted Mrs. Ellen Doris Forbes a divorce because of her husband's desertion,

Turns of History Changed First Name Of Some States

WASHINGTON - Had American history taken different turns, some of today's states would be named Franklin, Jefferson, Deseret, New Connecticut, Kanawha, and Susquehannah.

The State of Franklin actually had a governor, constitution, courts, and a capital in the mountains of what is now northeast Tennessee. Set up at Jonesboro in 1784 when North Carolina gave over her western land to Federal protection, Franklin sought for five years to be taken in by the nation. John Sevier, Franklin's first and only governor, ten years later became the first governor of the State of Tennessee.

Even earlier than the State of Franklin, was a homespun government along the Watauga, Nollchucky, Holston and French Broad Rivers-formed by Virginia's western counties. Popular vote changed the name to West Virginia.

It was in 1859 that delegates from the "Territory of Jefferson" were sent to Congress by miners around Pike's Peak. During the next two years Jefferson incorporated the city of Denver and set many land titles. Congress gave it a new name: Colorado,

Deseret, organized in 1849 by the Mormons at Salt Lake City, embraced an area extending from the Rockies to the Sierra Nevadaplus even a strip of Pacific coast near San Diego. Congress rejected the name Deseret and established the much smaller Territory of

New Connecticut was the first name proposed for their State by settlers of Vermont.

Our Family Circle Getting Stronger

NEW YORK - The nation's declining mortality rate has had a stabilizing influence upon family life by decreasing the chances of the family circle being broken up by the loss of a parent while children are young, says insurance statisticians.

In families where there are young children the chances are currently less than 1 in 100 that one of the parents will die within a year, it is reported.

For example: in a family where the husband is 20 years old and the wife 19, and there is one child, an infant, the chances are only 9 per 1,000 that the husband will dle within five years, and only 10 per 1,000 that either the wife or the child, or both, will die within that period.

The probabilities of death within five years are greater for larger families and also where parents are older. Thus, the chances of death within five years increase to 15 per 1,000 for the father who is 35 years of age and to 17 per 1,000 for at least one member of a family which includes a wife and three children.

Each year more than 700,000 families are broken up by the death of the husband or wife.

America Is Nation Of Up-and-Downers

WASHINGTON - Americans are the world's greatest up-and-down travelers and new electronic, opcratorless elevators are making such travel easier and more comfortable.

Never priding himself as a stair climber, the American citizen looked to the elevator as one of the most beneficial inventions. As a result, the U. S. operates 250,000 elevators, three times as many as the outside world.

Our craving for effortless elevation is expressed another way: 24.000,000,000 rides a year total nearly 600,000,000 miles or more than six times the distance to the

Now the elevator has come of age, electronically speaking, bringing a noticeable change in the lives of downtown workers. More and more riders are operating their own office building lifts.

Man Sells Gift House Which Was Too Big

PHILADELPHIA - Postman John N. McKalvey had to sell the showplace mansion willed him by a woman to whom he showed kindness because he "just couldn't get used to" the 15-room home.

The house had a reported total value of $175,000 when it was built by domestic and foreign artisans in 1915, but it brought slightly less than $30,000 at auction. Still to be sold, however, were the home's many valuable antiques and ob-
